Part B. CV Summary (max. 3500 characters, including spaces)

Dra. Dolores Lagoa-Varela is associate professor of finance at the University of A Coruña. She is Ph.D. Cum laude in Economics and Business by the Universidade da Coruña (2007). My first stage as a teacher was at the University of Navarra (ISSA-School of Applied Management in San Sebastián) during the period 1996-1999. While teaching at the University of Navarra, I started with my Doctoral Studies at the Universidad de Deusto. After this period and before joining the University of A Coruña, she worked in different private companies as a consultant in projects related to different topics such as, quality standards, quality labels, environment, viability plans and ICT (Information and Communication Technologies), among others.

Currently she teaches analysis of financial operations (financial maths), investment theory and financial valuation (the latter, at master's level). She also occupies the position of coordinator of the Master in Banking and Finance since May 2020. She has presented her research in many workshops and conferences and she has acted as referee for several top international journals.
